European Proceedings of Social and Behavioural Sciences (EpSBS) is an open access, peer-reviewed and refereed series. The main objective of the EpSBS is to promote interdisciplinary studies in social and behavioural sciences by providing a platform for international scholars to disseminate their work.

Topics include but are not limited to anthropology, archaeology, psychology, sociology, philosophy, interdisciplinary humanities, economics, political science and additional entries in related fields, including education, legal studies, environmental studies and media studies. The series also welcomes works highlighting the connection between human activities and social interactions.

The EpSBS publishes theoretical, experimental or application-based works with the objective of contributing to a greater understanding and development of social and behavioural sciences. EpSBS publishes either monographs for example, master thesis/doctoral dissertations or edited volumes based on the outcomes of conferences.

Once published, all proceedings are submitted for evaluation and possible coverage in Web of Science Core Collection™ Conference Proceedings Citation Index - Social Sciences & Humanities (CPCI-SSH).

Preface

Dear colleagues, with the great pleasure I present the proceedings containing selected peer reviewed papers from the scientific conference “Psychology of subculture: Phenomenology and contemporary tendencies of development” (PSYRGGU 2019) which took place 22-23 April 2019 at the Institute of Psychology, Russian State University for the Humanities, Moscow, Russia.

The relevance of the problem raised at the conference was connected to the fact that modern subcultures have significantly transformed over the past 10 years. Today we are talking about the subculture as an intellectual association, which includes representatives of different disciplines and different sciences and arts. Subcultures at the present time can be presented as modern social networks connecting the cultural spaces of different sciences, arts, centuries. And the purpose of the conference was to discuss new spaces of subculture and their importance for responding to significant challenges of our time.

There were six thematic sections: Existential problems of culture and subculture; Identity and subculture: transformation in modern changing world; Clinical psychology in context of subculture; Child and youth subcultures; The changing context of modern education and Young scientists section. Among keynote speeches were famous scientists from Russia, USA, France and Israel: A.G. Asmolov, Head of the Department of Personality Psychology, Moscow State University; N.V. Grishina, Professor of the Department of Personality Psychology, St. Petersburg State University; S.N. Kostromina, Head of the Department of Personality Psychology, St. Petersburg State University; Larisa A. Golovej, Professor, Head of the Department of Developmental Psychology, St. Petersburg State University, Russia E.A. Sergienko, Institute of psychology RAS, Moscow, A.N. Poddiakov, HSE University, Moscow, A.Sh. Thostov, Head of the Department of Neuro- and pathopsychology, Moscow State University; Peter Steiner, Professor of University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, USA; A. Kagan, Professor, Tel-Aviv, Israel.

The review process for the papers was stringent. Besides checking all papers for plagiarism, each submission was subjected to a double-blind review process by two reviewers. The number of submissions received and reviewed was 230 and the number of submissions accepted was 107.

The conference “Psychology of subculture: Phenomenology and contemporary tendencies of development” was organized and hosted by Institute of Psychology, Russian State University for the Humanities, Moscow, Russia.

The conference chair and co-chairs express their sincere appreciation to all the organizing institutions. Special thanks are to all the keynote speakers, all the session chairs, members of the organizing committee, scientific committee, and peer review committee.
